REILLY QUILTS

VSF boss walks out over our Page One story

JACK Reilly, Chairman of the Victorian Soccer Federation, has resigned.

He quit on Wednesday night following disagreement with National Soccer League chief, Sam Papasavas, over our front page story, last week, highlighting overspending by the NSL.

As our last edition was rushed hot off the press to the Buffalo Cup Final last Wednesday, a rumpus erupted in the Olympic Park VIP room between Reilly and several prominent NSL identities.

Eventually, after presenting the Cup to South Melbourne, Reilly sat down and wrote out his resignation which was not accepted.

A worried George Wallace, Executive

By LES SHORROCK

Director of the VSF, immediately rounded up all available members of the Board of Management, who went into a huddle behind closed doors.

An emergency Board meeting was called for last Friday night, but was then cancelled, in the hope of taking some heat out of the situation.

As we went to press, the matter still remained unresolved, although it is understood that several leading Victorian identities, including one of his most vociferous critics, have begged Reilly to reconsider.

● Jack Reilly, the Collins Street merchant banker.

As the Chairman is elected by popular vote of all the VSF's 153 member clubs, it will be necessary to call an extraordinary General Meeting to replace Reilly if he doesn't change his mind.

If he can't be persuaded to stay on, it will be a severe blow to the VSF's plans for the streamlining and modernisation of the whole Victorian soccer set-up.

It is an open secret that Jack Reilly had ambitions to step into the shoes of 72-year-old doyen of Australian soccer, Sir Arthur George, who retires on July 29, after the Bicentennial Gold Cup.

He can still achieve that step, of course, and Victoria's loss would be Australia's gain, because he would be the first ex-player to rise to that eminence.

Socceroo Jack Reilly was one of the heroes of the 1974 Australian team that reached the World Cup-finals in West Germany under Rale Rasic.

'BLIND REFS KILLING THE GAME'

A LEADING Melbourne NSL official said this week that inconsistency by some referees was killing the game.

"They come into the dressing room before the match and tell us how they are under instruction to tighten up and cut out foul play, then when they get out on the field they are blind to most of the tricks that players pull," he said.

"So they run around waving yellow cards at all and sundry for petty offences like kicking the ball away and miss the two-footed tackles and elbows in the face.

"My team has been maligned in the press for being over-physical, but we have so many injured players at the moment that it would pay us to open our own hospital."

When the new get-tough policy was first announced and the cautions started flying about, many club officials were heard to comment wryly that they would have so many suspensions that they would need to double the size of their squads.

Now their main concern is the injuries that key players are receiving.

Last weekend South Melbourne's David Healy was carried off against Footscray and Juventus' Mickey Petersen will be out of action for several weeks with a fractured ankle, while his teammate, Charlie Egan, had to go to hospital to have stitches after receiving an elbow in the face.

Sunshine George Cross has, I understand, complained that one of its players was reported in mistake for a teammate.

The Star interview with Lewis Yoannides

'It's a Mickey Mouse League'

JUST a few months ago Heidelberg, Melbourne's most successful National Soccer League club, was relegated from the League in the most traumatic circumstances.

LAST week, Soccer Star went along to see how the 'Bergers were adapting to their new State League status and found club president, Lewis Yoannides, who has been with the club for 23 years, in buoyant mood.

We put some searching questions to him and he answered them very frankly. Soccer Star: How did you feel when Heidelberg was relegated?

L.Y.: "I was quite devastated, it took me three or four weeks to grasp that it had happened to us. I tell you it upset the hell out of me, because of the way it all came about. Imagine the Chairman of the NSL giving the club permission to play the player Scott Fraser after both George Wallace and Stefan Kamasz had refused to clear him.

"It was another Mickey Mouse decision by a Mickey Mouse League."

"I fired off a fax to the League on about the 5th of December describing the whole affair as a Mickey Mouse decision, and to this day I have not had a reply."

"I call it Mickey Mouse because it is so

Les Shorrock talks to Heidelberg's President inconsistent. Back in 1979 Sam Papasavas' own club South Melbourne Hellas finished bottom, but we supported its attempt to stay in the League because we thought the League needed Hellas.

"I think Sam Papasavas should have resigned over the Scott Fraser business, and if I had been a president or delegate of any other club I would have demanding his resignation. "When you hold a responsible position like his, there is no room for mistakes," alleged Yoannides.

Well, now are you in the State League for 1988. Can I ask you what financial shape was the club in when you took over?

"It was pretty bad. The club owed half a million dollars at least, but I am happy to say that in the last two months since the new committee took over we have done wonders."

"By selling some players and holding a couple of functions and taking over running our canteen ourselves we have managed to wipe out our short-term debts."

"We are still in debt to one bank, the Commonwealth, to the tune of about $40,000, but we have done very well. Selling players has brought us in about $128,000 so far and Theo Selemides and Chris Ketakides could still go."

"We have had tremendous help from our main sponsor, KH Stramit, who have helped to build the press box and VIP area that was started by the previous president, Peter Tsaklis."

"Other sponsors have provided windows, doors, chairs, you name it, all we've had to provide is the labour. We think we already have the best club ground in the country, all our patrons are under cover and there is ample parking."

"Having Juventus as a co-tenant is worth about another $15,000 to us, so it all helps."

Having sold players of the calibre of Jeff Oliver, Steve Marley, Alan Hunter and Peter Tsaklis, what sort of a team will you be able to field in the State League?

"We will have a strong team in 1988, backed up by excellent staff. We are negotiating for the return of Yaka Banovic and hope soon to sign Rothmans Medal winner Paul Harris from Caulfield. And we have just signed Dennis Morovic from St. Albans, last year's State League top goal-scorer who was being chased by several other clubs."

"I think the reason why so many players are keen to come to us is because we have Terry Hennessy as coach. Con Pappas, for example, who should never have been lost to us in the first place, was very happy to come back."

"Terry is marvellous and I'm really surprised that he has been in and out of the game as he has. His knowledge

Scott Fraser... the player involved in the transfer mix-up.

"First things first. Of course we will be going all out to win the State League, we wouldn't be rebuilding if we didn't want to win the League."

"But applying for the play-offs for the NSL is a different matter, a bridge we will cross when we come to it."

"I mean, who is to say that there will be a national league next year? All the NSL clubs are in the red and going further into debt all the time. We don't want to go down that track again. In fact, it is becoming apparent now that relegation from the NSL was the salvation of Heidelberg."

So, to sum up Lewis, your message to Heidelberg fans would be, 'take heart, there is life after relegation'?

"Of course it is, Heidelberg will come out of last year's trauma better and stronger than ever. We have big plans for expansion too."

"Once the VIP and Press box is finished, we intend to start building a reception

Lewis Yoannides... "It upset the hell out of me."

Arok tells our Star man Yankos better than Wilson

AS a captain and a player, Charlie Yankos is better than Australia's longest-serving international, Peter Wilson. So says Soccerroo coach Frank Arok.

"Wilson was an import who was better than most of the others at the time. He was not of international class on his own but our game was not so strong at the time, so he could survive," Arok said.

"Yankos is the product of our own soccer. He really has made his presence felt. He is very positive and well respected. The guys are very fond of him. He enjoys the captaincy very much and most important of all, he is an excellent communicator."

Wilson was Australian captain from 1971 to 1977, through two World Cup campaigns. English-born he played for South Coast United, Marconi, Western Suburbs and APIA and represented Australia a record 114 times.

Yankos, who rose from the Polonia juniors to the seniors of Heidelberg-Alexander, then to Adelaide Hellas and APIA, recently played his 64th game for Australia.

I asked Arok to make the comparison between the two captains during the recent series against Dinamo Zagreb.

Here are a few more extracts from that interview:

Q. From the start of your reign as national coach, you spurned the conventional team formations used in the NSL. Was that a risk in itself?

Arok: At a lot of clubs, players are taught by repetition, they learn by heart certain ways of playing but repetition won't take you far in international soccer. When I introduced two stoppers and a sweeper, with the full backs acting as wide midfielders, I was accused of using five defenders. Now almost everyone plays that way.

Also I don't like playing two centre forwards because that way of playing is too well known, too easily countered. I like to have second and third forwards coming in from wide positions. Look, everything in soccer is debatable except quality and results. We are playing well, we are using the ball and it is definitely a different game than the old, gutsy, get-in-hard style of the past. Today you do not often see long balls because we try to keep possession.

Yankos used to play those long balls but I have stopped it. Against Dinamo, especially in the 1-1 draw in Melbourne, we worked in our defending. If you have got a smoothly functioning defence you can start doing things. You have to win the ball back, and that's what we did. It was only at the time the ball changed hands, that we hesitated too much. We went back for support, allowing them to get men behind the ball, instead of hitting them straight away. That will

Q. Are your Soccerroos still the mad dogs of old?

Arok: Never in any game have they lacked

Peter Wilson... "an import who was better than most."

come. It is all a matter of getting back in touch.

Q. Are you really serious about getting Jim Patikas, David Mitchell and Chris Kalantzis back from overseas for the Olympic series or is it just a smokescreen to scare the other players, and to get publicity for the Olympic campaign?

Arok: I would rather play France than Dinamo. I would rather play England than Liverpool because club teams have greater fluency, greater understanding.

Q. What else could be done to help your Olympic preparations?

Arok: Look, I am deadly serious about the overseas players, and they will be here. If my present players are worried by that, let them play so well that I can't drop them. The Olympic qualifying series is almost here. We have no more time for preparation so it is vital that we get the best players back home.

Q. Aurelio Vidmar of Adelaide Juventus was among the new players you tried out against Dinamo. What do you like about him?

Arok: It would be nice to have the running, the organising capacity, the scoring ability and the defensive commitment all in the one player. I am satisfied in the work done by Wade and Crino but Vidmar has the potential to do all these things.

Q. Where is our domestic soccer going? What would increase attendance?

Arok: Everyone puts unbelievable pressure commitment. In fact, in the most difficult matches, it is what gets us through but we have many other qualities as well — skill, pace, height, versatility. Our killer instinct is represented best by one player in each line — Yankos at the back, McDowall when he plays in midfield and Kosmina up front. But all the guys can be vicious. Crino can be vicious.

Q. Israel recently drew with France, one of the world's best teams, and Israel has yet to regain many of its stars playing abroad.

Arok: I would rather play France than Dinamo. I would rather play England than Liverpool because club teams have greater fluency, greater understanding.

Q. What else could be done to help your Olympic preparations?

Arok: Look, I am deadly serious about the overseas players, and they will be here. If my present players are worried by that, let them play so well that I can't drop them. The Olympic qualifying series is almost here. We have no more time for preparation so it is vital that we get the best players back home.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUND-UP

MELBOURNE CROATIA 2 (Murphy 20th, Lewis 90th) ST. GEORGE 1 (Koczka 43rd)

Melbourne grabbed its first win of the season in a nail-biting finish at Olympic Park in the first game of a poorly attended double-header.

Only 4000 fans turned up to watch what on paper looked like an attractive programme, and whilst theories abound that Melbourne families don't like Saturday night soccer, no doubt Olympic Park's increasing car-parking problem couldn't have helped.

Faced with traffic going to the Moscow Circus or the Pink Floyd concert, many must have turned away rather than park in Richmond and walk the rest of the way.

St. George coach Frank Arok was saying before the game that his team had been brilliant for 60 minutes against Adelaide City the week before, which led me to expect great things.

But the Saints looked just the same as they always do when I see them in Melbourne, a solid, workmanlike outfit that takes no prisoners, but not by any stretch of the imagination brilliant.

Maybe that 6-0 scoreline against Adelaide City says more about City than it does about the Saints.

Melbourne Croatia looked good in the opening half hour of this game, wit Branko Milosevic showing great vision at times, nippy Josip Biskic running at defenders and Paul Lewis toiling unceasingly up front.

Man of the match:
ALAN SCOTT

It was a Biskic run that set up the first goal after 20 minutes. Hiw low cross from near the corner-flag was completely missed by full-back David Green and Peter Murphy banged the ball past Gibson for his second goal in as many games.

Croatia continued to look good as the half wore on, but there were danger signals when Kevin Hagan missed first with a header then hit the cross-bar with a free-kick.

Hagan had looked dangerous, but it was his front-running partner, captain Andrew Koczka who jolted Croatia when, after a neat interchange with Scott Ollerenshaw he slammed the ball past Oliver two minutes before half-time.

The second half was even enough until 15 minutes from time when Steve O'Connor was sent off after a scuffle with Croatia's best player Alan Scott, right on the edge of the penalty area. Koczka dropped back into his more accustomed role to replace Rocky O'Connor and the Saints tried to settle for a draw with ten men.

They could have succeeded too, but with only seconds remaining, Murphy broke through and sent Paul Lewis racing into the box.

South Korean international Choi Kyeong Sik brought him down in desperation, and Lewis picked himself up, spotted the ball and calmly smashed it past poor Mike Gibson as the Croatia bench leapt up in triumph.

SOUTH ESCAPES

FOOTSCRAY 1 (Spink 33rd) SOUTH MELBOURNE 1 (Tasios 12th)

After its great pre-match build-up, this game was something of a disappointment even though referee John Fraser let it flow as much as possible, which was a credit to him.

There were patches of brilliance, a missed penalty and narrow misses a-plenty, but there were also a lot of niggling, nasty little fouls that spoilt the occasion.

Man of the match:
OSCAR CRINO

And the result, South's third draw in succession, leaves a big question mark still hanging over the side.

Goalkeeper Con Giatas saved Ernie Tapai's spot-kick well and then Steve Tasios put South in front with a marvellous strike that left Zoran Nikitovic grasping thin air.

It looked as if it was going to be their day on Sunday too.

This time though, the equaliser came before half-time as Oscar Crino who had another marvellous game glided past three defenders and set up Warren Spink who smashed the ball past Giatas.

In the second half it was all Footscray and Russell, Blair and Co. had to call on all their considerable experience to keep the eager Blues at bay.

Their cause wasn't helped, either by having David Healy carried off, although young Paul Fernandes came on and did his bit nobly.

It's always a pleasure to watch Crino play, with that haughty mastery that is his hallmark, but why, oh why, does he mar perfection with those spiteful, petty fouls that it seems he has to commit?

(The same applies to Vlado Bozinovski, by the way.)

PRESTON MAKEDONIA 0 SYDNEY CROATIA 2 (Koslovich 10th, Stewart o.g.)

Preston's cup of woe ran over in the second game of Saturday's double-header, with its second defeat in four days.

The Buffalo Cup final defeat must have taken more out of the team than coach Ernie Merrick could have expected, for it lacked any sparkle, and goalkeeper Phil Triandis for one had a nightmare.

Preston looked all the worse for the fact that Sydney Croatia looked bright and aggressive.

Robbie Slater, for instance had a great game up front and as you watched his powerful runs at the defence and his shrewd prompting of his fellow striker, unknown Tony Keslovich, his absence from the Socceroos becomes all the more puzzling.

Frank Arok recently promoted Scott Ollerenshaw to the senior Socceroo squad, but on the night's showing you'd have to wonder about his choice over Slater.

Slater showed his power early in the game when he let loose a thunderbolt that Triandis dropped like a hot cake.

The game was only 10 minutes old when Wally Savor who had a great game sliced the Preston defence apart with a superb pass which young Tony Keslovich took in his stride to score well.

Note the name... this boy is going to be a great striker, and what's more, he's home-grown, straight out of Sydney Croatia's youth team.

with a powerful strike that flashed inches wide, but the night belonged to Croatia, Slater and Savor in particular.

ADELAIDE CITY 2 (Mullen 39th, Vidmar 51st) WOLLONGONG 3 (Skeen 2nd, Ainsworth 26th, Easthorpe 80th).

Adelaide City, proud West End NSL champion in 1986 is on its knees in rock-bottom spot on the 1988 ladder.

By contrast, Wolves are on top, but without Alan Brazil are unlikely to stay in that exalted position.

A warning to future opponents of the SA team: City is far from a spent force despite its lack of success in the first three rounds.

There were encouraging signs in last Saturday's game when City fought back from two goals down to level in the 51st minute, only to concede a late goal and the precious points.

The snap and the zip and the team play is still there, but City badly needs a more confident goalkeeper.

on the national team, as if soccer's whole future depends on it. There is more to it than that. And why talk just about attendances? Sheffield Shield cricket is watched only by the players' wives and kids but no-one talks about crowds. Maybe there should be a revolution. Maybe Melbourne should have only two NSL teams and four or five in a second division. You will see, in the future, South American and Lebanese clubs take over in Sydney. A South American team would have tremendous support in the National League. But the ultimate solution lies with the clubs themselves. Quite simply, they have to be well administered and then they will go places. The problem is that we have not had stable club administration.

DIAMOND VALLEY A REAL GEM

HOW'S this for a soccer line-up: Gus Mercurio, Sam Kekovich, Keith Greig, Brian Taylor, Bobby Russell and Lester Ellis?

All will take part in a sportsmen's night organised by Diamond Valley United at its Willinda Park headquarters on March 10. Kekovich, Greg and Taylor are of VFL fame, Ellis is one of Australia's top boxers and Mercurio is the actor and boxing referee.

Diamond Valley's on-field line-up this season will be almost as impressive.

It has signed former Croatia midfielder Alan Kerr from Eltham and former Makedonia, Thomastown and Kellor-Austria utility player Brian Flaherty. It expects to get three more former Makedonia players — Tom Brewerton from Sunbury, Mike Rainey from Eltham and Kieron Coyle from Essendon Triestina.

The club made a $27,000 operating profit last season and has $17,000 to spend on new players.

Diamond Valley president and club manager "Shocker" Myles says he is keen to sign two more experienced midfielders, preferably with NSL or State League experience. They are invited to contact him on 309-5153.

Top players at Diamond Valley include sweeper Gar Dodd, full back Neil Draper and striker Micky Hodgson who scored 13 goals in half a season before being sidelined by a knee injury in 1987.

Coach is none other than Ollie Norris, who has coached Footscray JUST and Hakoah among others.

Diamond Valley United, the product of a merger two years ago between Heidelberg and Greensborough, has been relegated from Division Four to the First Division of the Provisional League but there is little doubt that it will be promoted back at the end of the season.

The club still is seething over the circumstances in which it was relegated. East Brunswick was banned by the VSF for two years over allegations it had used unregistered players but the decision was changed and the club was fined instead. Had East Brunswick stayed out, Diamond Valley would have been saved. As it turned out, though, East Brunswick was saved and the axe fell on the Valley.

Diamond Valley has a membership of 125 and fields no less than seven junior sides, all sponsored. Its function room is fully booked until February and its reserves won the league last year.

BOX HILL LOOK

● Big Aki Kotzichalis transferred this week to Sunshine George Cross. His power at the heart of the Polonia defence, and the experience of Gerry Bennett, will be sorely missed.

BOX HILL, the side responsible for the production of so many good young players, will again bank on youth.

Most of the strength of last year's squad has moved on and left new coach, John Brown, with the task of rebuilding his side to try to survive this year of change in the state League.

Both Dean Hennessey and Andy McMillan will be missing from the line up at the start of the season, a huge hole to fill as these two were one of the strongest combinations in the air in the league.

Keeper John McKinlay has been training at Croydon and he could well go although Stuart Lee is also training at Croydon and Miron Bleiberg will only need to sign one of them.

State League round-up with GARY CUTLER

Stalwart Harry Hird has played for a number of seasons with a suspect knee and has told the club that he will not be playing this year but Brown is hopeful that he can persuade the former Juventus defender to have another season to add some much needed experience to his depleted back four.

But Brown who has been connected with the club for 19 years as a player, player-coach and now as coach, is optimistic he can bring on some of the young players to try to be competitive in the league.

"Obviously the loss of these players is going to have a bad effect on our side," he said.

"We will pack experience and look like being a very short side. But we still have some very good players. Barry Burton, Alan Roodhouse and Steven Brimmer will compete with any midfield and up front Jim McBride is a good striker," said Brown.

Len Sullivan will make the step up from the reserves to fill the vacant keeper's spot if McKinlay goes.

John Dimatrellis will fill the vacant left back position and Craig Davidson and Joe Mori will also be in the thick of things in the back four.

Former Albion Rovers defender, Tom McMorrow, will finally get his chance to show what he can do after waiting in the wings for a number of years.

The Hillmen have always been known for producing good young players but this could be the year they fall down with the six-team relegation looming.

To their credit they have not fallen for the temptation of going into large debts just to keep paying what they cannot really afford.

Perhaps if all clubs did the same thing soccer would get along a little better, but as for this season, well, it will be a long hard battle for Brown and his young troops.

● Russell Athersych... regarded as one of the best strikers in the league by Billy Murray.

Heidelberg Sign Morovic

HEIDELBERG Utd have made the first of what could be many plunges into the transfer market.

Dennis Morovic, one of the most respected strikers in the league and the main reason behind the success of St Albans, has been Terry Hennessey's first major signing since taking over.

Morovic has agreed terms with the club and the deal will be finalised this week.

The prospect of Morovic and Deeley would have been frightening but the Bergers will have to wait and see if Deeley returns from a planned trip to the UK.

Hennessey still feels that he's four players short of having a side that is capable of competing for the championship. But time is running out and many of the players on the list are now signed by other clubs.

ALL is well at Thomastown.

The appointment of Bill Murray as coach is the only major change this year at Thomastown.

The side which last year upset many teams with its open flowing play has consolidated and with a couple of additions to the squad could well be a real strength. How many clubs and coaches have said to me this season: "I could do with a good striker". The answer: "All of them." Thomastown is

UPDATE

GREEN Gully have swooped to sign midfielder Mark Wilson from St. Albans for $5000. Wilson missed half of the 1987 season through work commitments.

ST. ALBANS have signed Box Hill defender Andy McMillan for the maximum fee of $500 stipulated in his contract.

RUMOUR has it that Green Gully midfielder Joe O'Donnell is on the move. He has yet to agree terms and has a maximum transfer fee of $2,300 in his contract.

CROYDON City has finally signed Goran Runje from St. Albans for $1000 and is expected to sign Jim Campbell from Croatia shortly.

HEIDELBERG defender Chris Katsakidis is being chased by Sunshine George Cross after failing to come to terms with Footscray.

RINGWOOD CITY are chasing the services of Dave Brogan. The Croydon City striker performed well in recent practice matches and coach Rob Nelson is keen to sign him.

MORWELL FALCONS striker, John Sokoluk, has arrived from the UK. The former Berwick Rangers striker played for East Fife before being recommended to Falcons by Scott Fraser. Sokoluk is 22.

BOX HILL winger, George Campbell, has asked for a transfer after being unable to agree to terms with the club. He is available for $3,500.

one side who do not have this problem.

Bobby McGuinness and Russell Athersych are two of the best in the league and Murray is very grateful for having them.

"They are both fine players, all I need now is to sort out the middle of park and we will not be far away," said Murray.

At the back he has some more than adequate defenders in George McMillan and Tony Cosentino and plans to add to the squad in the near future.

Keiran Coyle has been training at the club and should agree terms this week as will Nino Raguso, a midfielder from Regent Utd.

Victor Christaldo is trialling in South America but may be available by the start of the season.

Jim "Softy" Goist, a utility who played with Northwick Victoria in the UK will sign as soon as Andy Higgins is granted residence after his recent marriage. He will soon be joined by two other visa players but at this stage Murray is playing his cards close to his chest on their identities.

On the whole, things look promising for the Italian backed club and they will certainly be up there at the end of the season if Murray can get them to play to his style.

Sunshine's Junior Cup

SUNSHINE Heights proved too strong for Springvale City but despite the 5-1 scoreline the Buffalo Junior Cup final provided many highlights. Sunshine dominated from the start and as early as the 12th minute could have opened the scoring through George Zacharias.

Despite creating several chances its first goal had an element of luck about it as Danny Cupic's shot was deflected into the net by a defender.

Scott Dalifa was busy in midfield for Springvale and provided two good through balls in as many minutes but the Sunshine defence held out.

On the stroke of half time, Danny Cupic again latched in to a good right-wing cross to make it 2-0.

Sunshine increased the lead shortly after the break when Zacharias atoned for his earlier miss to make it 3-0.

Springvale goalkeeper Giuseppe made a superb save from Zacharias but soon afterwards was unlucky when another shot from Zacharias was deflected past him.

In the 22nd minute of the second half, Springvale scored the best goal of the game.

D. Grella finished off a superb move in which Scott Dalifa played a major role for a goal which would have done justice to any game.

However, John Panetta added a fifth goal for Sunshine and on the night it deserved its victory.

POLONIA HAS PROBLEMS

MARIBYNONG Polonia, last season's champions, will compete this year and not amalgamate with Melton.

The club has raised enough funds to make the club financial to continue this season.

However, Rob Nelson has left for Ringwood, and his position has been filled by former Broad-meadows coach, Jim McIntyre, who realises the size of the task he has if the club is to be a threat this season.

Kees Storm has gone to Fawkner, and giant defender Aki Kotzichalis is training with Sunshine George Cross but he is one player that McIntyre is keen to keep.

Captain Gerry Bennett has been linked with several clubs but is believed to have agreed terms with Morwell Falcons. Polonia will need a replacement quickly if they want to be ready by March 5.

"We have been very late getting organised this year due to the financial situation of the club, but that has been resolved now and the job of getting a strong squad has been made much harder by the late start with most of the players of quality already being signed up by clubs," said McIntyre.

Rick Lipiarski and Brendan Lalic will have a large task if they are to bring on the youngsters who will have to fill the boots of more experienced players.

Alex Marshall has not been at training since the Buffalo Cup and Greg Wasarwaski is suffering a hamstring injury but is expected to be available.

McIntyre is desperate for players, and has given the go-ahead for any player with State League experience to call the club as he can add up to seven players to the squad.

But with the State League just two weeks away and few quality players around the great side of last year may just be a memory and the internal turmoil at the club could prove to be much more costly.

Don't miss Cutler's comment next Thursday.

JUNIOR BUFFALO CUP FINAL:

MAKEDONIA showed how dangerous it can be when, with George Slifkas on the flank as a substitute, it finally decided to have a go. By then however, it was far too late, as Hellas led 3-1 at half time.

Makedonia's reticence in the first half appeared to be the direct result of over-concern with the opposition.

With Zoran Tasevski missing, Bill Piculovski and George Jolevski were teamed in front of sweeper Steve Jackson as the markers of Paul Trimboli and Danny Wright, while Ian Roodhouse and Con Opasinis picked up Peter Tsolakis and Paul Foster on the flanks.

Whereas, in their NSL clash at Connor Reserve a week earlier, Makedonia had matched Hellas thrust for thrust in an end-to-end tussle, this time Hellas took the initiative while Makedonia sat back.

Makedonia paid the penalty despite its dramatic change in attitude after half time.

It was the first big triumph of coach Brian Garvey's rebuilt Hellas side. Much has been said about the new stars but Garvey was able to perform the transformation of Hellas only because he had a nucleus of reliable senior players including Bobby Russell, who was as solid as a rock in the sweeper's position.

Russell is the only player to have won the NSL's player of the year award more than once.
he was given the ultimate accolade in 1979
when the award was decided according to votes cast by members of the Australian Soccer Press Association and again in 1986 when the award took the form of the Rothmans Medal, for which votes were cast by referees.

● Brian Garvey... a proud South Melbourne Hellas coach.

P. Foster, David Healy, Con Giatas, Paul Fernandes, Angie Postecoglou, Paul Wade, Nick Van Den
Berg, Harry Micheil, Manny Anezakis, Henry Buck (physio), Peter Tsolakis, Paul Trimboli, Bobby Russell, Steve Blair, Steve Tasios, Danny Wright.

Russell, previously with Sydney Croatia and Adelaide Juventus, has not represented Australia since 1979 yet his steady performance in this final indicated he has lost little since then.

We're not saying he set the stadium aglow with his sheer brilliance. Rather, it was his sheer solidity, his reliability that made him so important to Hellas's adventurous play further upfield. He played only four games for the Socceroos, incidentally — against the New York Cosmos in Sydney, Beijing and Tianjin in China and the Taipei City Bank team in Taiwan, under coach Rudi Gutendorf in late 1979.

Striker Paul Trimboli and left back Angie Postecoglou were the other big stars of the final while for Makedonia, no-one was better than substitute Slifkas and midfielder John Stewart.

Goalkeeper Phil Traianides was beaten by two penalties and an excellent move finished off by Steve Tasios but he made a brilliant save late in the match to prevent Paul Wade from increasing the score. It was Hellas's sixth night championship, having won it previously in China and the Taipei City Bank team in Taiwan, perennial loser of finals, has yet to win a night Cup.

Better things, perhaps, are in store in the league campaign. A lot of potential was evident in the first two rounds and striker Saso Petkovski from Vardar Skopje has yet to arrive to take his place in attack.

What's more, Zoran Ilioski, the most senior of all NSL players, staked a strong claim for reincarnation in the senior team by scoring a hat-trick in the reserves' 8-2 victory over Clifton Hill two weeks ago.

Hellas took the lead in the final after making most of the running for the first half-hour. Trimboli skipped past Traianides and as he was about to shoot, was caught around the shoulder by Piculovski. Referee Mike Gaut awarded the penalty and Postecoglou converted expertly.

Orange flares lit up the far stand and the players ran over to salute their fans.

A few minutes later, a through ball from Steve Tasios sent Peter Tsolakis racing away down the left.

He cut inside, got into the penalty area and was challenged by Jolevski who committed what

South the more dangerous side

Gaut ruled to be a foul. Again Postecoglou scored from the penalty spot.

Makedonia had the chance to score when Steve Smith's head connected with a cross from the right but Hellas goalkeeper Con Giatas made a difficult save look easy.

At 1-2, Makedonia would have had a good chance, but when Hellas made it 3-0, it was practically all over. Foster twisted his way past opponents on the right, inside the penalty area, and cut the ball back low for Tasios to ram it in.

The first half ended with Smith turning swiftly inside the box and driving a low angled shot past Giatas to make it 3-1.

Slifkas came on to replace striker Mike Brian and Goce Dimovski was moved from midfield to attack. However, it was a night Dimovski would rather forget.

Most of the second-half chances fell to Makedonia but Hellas defended soundly.

Steve Gojevic was about to shoot when David Healy cut across him, took the ball and started a Hellas attack. Then Slifkas had a chance at close range but his shot was charged down by Russell and in yet another stroke of bad luck for Makedonia, Stewart was dispossessed at the crucial moment by Postecoglou.

Hellas came back with a Healy-Trimboli-Wright combination that faltered when Tasios hooked the ball over the bar. Makedonia responded by putting extra emphasis on attack by replacing Jolevski with midfielder George Petrov.

Stewart raced through the middle and timed a perfect pass into the open for Dimovski who, however, hit the ball high over the crossbar.
Makedonia had given its best, and for the last 10 minutes, Hellas again looked the more dangerous team.

Wade, Tsolakis and Trimboli worked the ball forward to Tasios who failed to connect cleanly with the ball and the last two scoring chances saw Postecoglou heading wide from a Trimboli cross and a shot by Wade being waved by Traianides.

Russell proudly holds the Buffalo Cup.

NSL PREVIEWS

Cautions and injuries will play a major part in deciding games this week. Juventus, for instance went into last night's Beach Cup game without five senior players, Peter Lewis, Brian Brown, and Mehmet Durakovic all suspended, and Mickey Petersen and Frank McGrellis injured.

In addition Garry McDowall after two recent cautions is near the danger mark, as is Scott Patterson.

How they all pull up after the Cup match could have a big bearing on the outcome of the League match against Sydney Olympic.

This week's games:
WOLLONGONG v MELBOURNE CROATIA

5.30 pm, Sunday at Brandon Park.

Two of the only three unbeaten teams in the competition meet at Brandon Park on Sunday in the match of the round.

Wollongong has got off to a wonderful start, dropping only one point, and with the backing of media multi-millionaire Harry Michaels and the stimulus of playing in a brand-new stadium, there's an air of excitement in Steel City.

But how much of 'Gong's success can be attributed to Scottish international Alan Brazil, who has now finished his guest stint?

Brazil has been the inspiration of the team, and has brought out the best in players like Danny Crainie, the ex-South Melbourne midfielder, and striker Randall Easthorpe.

Preston Makedonia came nearest to beating Wollongong, coming back with a point from a goalies draw. Preston was a little unlucky in that game, having a good goal by John Stewart disallowed because another player was offside.

Preston coach Ernie Merrick said after the game that Wollongong would get caught out one day as it relied too heavily on the offside trap.

"They play too square at the back", was his comment.....are you listening, Ian Wallace?

If Branko Milosevic and Alan Scott give Paul Lewis and Josip Biskic the right service, they can make any offside trap look silly, and Melbourne Croatia ought to come back with a point.

SOUTH MELBOURNE v MARCONI
8 pm Saturday at Olympic Park (second game of a double-header)

Marconi, breathing hard down Wollongong's neck in second place, comes to Olympic Park for Saturday's attractive double-header minus Frank Farina, who was sent off last week.

You only have to look at Marconi's goals-how important Farina is to Marconi, he has scored five of the side's nine goals already.

South Melbourne, on the crest of a wave of enthusiasm after winning the Buffalo Cup, has yet to prove itself in the League.

Although unbeaten, it has not yet won a game, and that cracker by Steve Tasios last week against Footscray is all it has to show for its efforts in the goalscoring department.

In all its three League games so far, it has gone off like a house on fire in the first half, only to wilt and find itself hanging on desperately for a point in the second.

Can Brian Garvey teach these youngsters to pace themselves?

BRUNSWICK JUVENTUS v SYDNEY OLYMPIC
6 pm on Saturday at Olympic Park (first game, double-header)

A rather battered Juventus faces Sydney Olympic in the opening match of Saturday's double-header at Olympic Park, and the encounter should be a fascinating one.

It's Eddie Thomson versus Len McKendry off-field and on-field John Kosmina and Marshall Soper versus Garry McDowall and Brian Brown at one end and Charlie Egan and Joey Palatsides versus Robert Hooker and Tony Dakos at the other. It should be some tussle.

McKendry has been using Andrew Zinni in the midfield, will he let him loose to try his speed against Olympic's relatively inexperienced defence?

BRISBANE LIONS v SUNSHINE GEORGE CROSS
6 pm Saturday at Richlands.

It was obvious before the season started that George Cross, with only a limited budget at its disposal, and having lost Paul Trimball, not to mention several other senior players was going to be up against it this season.

What Georgie didn't need as well, was the sort of opening fixture list it got.

This is its third away match in the first four rounds, and they have all been interstate to make things worse.

That means an overnight stay during this silly summer business, and I imagine the extra expense must have put a few more creases in the club treasurer's forehead.

Given the standard of refereeing in the far North it was always hard to win in Brisbane and Georgie will do well to come back with a point.

But as club president Alf Zahra said in these columns last week his players are full of fight and they proved it last week downing last season's champion, APLA.

ST. GEORGE v FOOTSCRAY
7 pm Sunday at St. George Stadium.

If Footscray turns on the sort of soccer it has displayed recently against first Juventus and then South Melbourne, it should win this encounter easily.

Oscar Crino is the key to the Blues' success, in the right mood he is a match-winner and no doubt Frank Arok, who should know him well by now will have laid plans to thwart him.

St. George will be without Steve O'Connor, sent off last week, and probably captain Andy Koczka will drop back into the defence in his place.

For his part, Footscray coach Mirsad Fazlagic will probably play his 'unknown', Milan Dimoski from Yugoslavia who came on for a few minutes last week.

PRESTON MAKEDONIA v ADELAIDE CITY
6 pm Sunday at Connor Reserve.

Almost unbelievable, Preston has yet to score a goal and it seems as though coach Ernie Merrick has something like a crisis of confidence on his hands.

Losing the Buffalo Cup-final was a heavy psychological blow to the players, after all it was the sixth final Preston has lost in three years, and the question is, can they bounce back?

They'll never get a better chance, for at the moment, Adelaide City's mood must be pretty bleak too.

As Allan Crisp points out in his match report, Addcity has a goalkeeping problem that newcomer Robert Zabica has so far not solved.

Coach Zoran Matic is badly missing Willie McNally who has gone to Perth.

It looks like a golden opportunity for Steve Smith, one of the League's best finishers, to get on the score-sheet at last.

SYDNEY CROATIA v APLA LEICHHARDT
8 pm Saturday at the Croatian Sports Centre

Has the APLA bubble burst? Coach Rale Rasic berated his men after the 1-0 loss to Georgie last week, and this week's game will show whether it was just a temporary setback, brought on by taking George Cross too lightly, or whether the rot has set in.

APLA is undoubtedly missing striker Gary Ward, still out of action after being savagely beaten-up after a one-day cricket match in Sydney.

Sydney Croatia, on the other hand, couldn't be happier with its striking department, with Robbie Slater in scintillating form and a newcomer, Tony Keslovich, recently promoted to the seniors, who looks a great prospect.

UNITED SCORE HALF DOZEN!

CORIO-GEELONG UNITED wiped the floor with Brintons, notching six goals without reply in the Geelong Advertiser Cup soccer match at Batesford.

And the Western Victorian Soccer Association upset the apocryphal by beating Hamlyn Rangers 2-0.

In the opening game, United had the ball in the back of the net before the substitutes had warmed the benches.

In the first minute Brintons was caught in possession. Vince Manganello pounced on a loose ball rattling the shins of Colin Bishop with his shot and Paul den Ouden tucked the rebound over the line.

It was the start United was looking for and Brintons could not stem the flow.

Five minutes later, Manganello linked into the area, turned, hesitated and still had time to do a pirouette before slotting the ball into the net.

Brintons gave it everything, but the professional League side just never had the players to compete with United.

Peter Smith opened up the floodgates by clipping a 40-metre job which had the keeper floundering in the second half and Brintons was three goals down.

Sergio di Blasi joined in the queue to shoot and crashed a curling drive against the right angle.

Brintons never came to grips with the severity of United's attack and when Robbie Noggler skinned Jim Robertson to plant the ball inside the post, any hope of a respectable scoreline vanished.

At 4-0, United was still not satisfied and John Pecchiari brushed aside the opposition to finish with a fierce shot which clipped the post on its way into the net.

George van der Chys gave an exhibition in clinical finishing when he squeezed the ball through a ruck of players to end the rout at 6-0.

With nothing but local pride at stake in the Group B game, WVSA demoralised Hamlyn Rangers with a 2-0 victory.

The usual battling image of Hamlyn Rangers died at Batesford and the Sunday league select side took the credit for the obituary.

Both sides struggled for dominance in a game bogged down in mid-field.

But it was the "poor relation" who showed the imagination going forward and Rangers never had the know-how to provide positive counter-attacks.

In its third game of the series, WVSA at last put it together and played attacking soccer.

The WVSA fans were bouncing up and down on the terracing when Peter Repeack shrugged off challenges and slotted the ball home midway through the half to give his side the lead.

Rangers came back with token efforts before the break and the feeling around the ground was that the Victorian League Division Three would increase the tempo in the second half.

But the pundits were wrong. The Select never allowed Rangers to settle and under the orchestration of Michael Spiranic started to run the show.

NORTH GEELONG and Geelong turned on the charm in the final preliminary round of the Geelong Advertiser Cup, and the bumper crowd could not get enough of it.

Both sides put on a superb exhibition of skill, tenacity and imagination thrilling spectators with a 2-2 draw.

A shakey start by Geelong was quickly punished when John Coutta carried a bobbling ball forward releasing to Wally Stojanovski. The striker tucked it home with spectators still arriving at the ground.

Provisional League Cup draw for the Preliminary Round on Saturday March 12 kick off 3 pm.

Ascot Vale City v Fitzroy City, Clayton v Berwick City, Waverley United v North Sunshine, Carrum United v Diamond Valley Utd. South Yarra v Meadow Park, Mossfield Rangers v Riversdale, Glenroy v Debeney Park, Malvern City v Prahran, Melton v Altona United, Lyndale United, Ascot Vale City.

Byes: Westmeadows, Regent, Parkmore, Springvale Ballarat, Springvale Condors, South Springvale, Fitzroy City, Monbulk, Kensington United, South Dandenong, Brandon Park, Ringwood Rovers, Cranbourne, Berwick

With the wind at its back Geelong pushed forward, but North quickly replied with probing runs that made a mockery of Geelong's offside trap.

Billy Priest was quickly in action when John Hrkac wormed his way through the backline, but the keeper equalled the shot parrying wide.

Play switched sharply to the other end and Geelong took command, dominating play for the rest of the half.

Neil Plummer clipped the ball over the oppressed North backline and Liam McCloskey rattled a first timer into the goal-mouth. Con Dimopoulos pulled off a superb reflex to deny the equaliser.

The seig continued and player after player tested the North backline with a variety of shots but the Reds stood firm.

Eddy Radojevic almost turned a shot over his own crossbar as the hungry Geelong forwards went in for the kill. With a fierce wind at its back Geelong continued the pressure and North refused to budge.
